Project Glimpse

Cognizant of “Inclusion” being the integral element in binding the mankind towards its prosperity Dyal Singh Evening College was honoured on encountering the existence of “Inclusive India: Empowered India” a noble endeavor of Naional trust, statutory body, Ministry of Social Justice & Empowerment- Government of India. The initiative centralizing its ideology on the emergent & vital need of “Inclusive India” to “Empower India”, turned out to be the primary persuading factor to propel its ideology amongst the “YOUTH”.

Perhaps, “Project Meraki” an extension of “Inclusive India Initiative commemorated its emergence under the due mentorship of National Trust in the month of August.2017 and marked the success of attainment of its primary objective to cognize the masses about the need of sensitivity needed towards “Persons with Intellectual & Developmental Special Abilities” through 3 rigorous months of selfless efforts of project team members, marking its conclusion in the October, 2017.

The project members after diligent research were successful in coming across the following manoeuvres, to help “Inclusive India: Empowered India” initiative to stimulate its ideology.

- Awareness Campaign
- Workshop
- Youth Festival.

Understanding the paucity of adequate knowledge about the need of “Inclusive India” & the dearth of realization towards the same, awareness campaign stood primary element as part of the project. As part of the awareness campaign on campus stalls were put up namely “Inclusive India – Hotspots” consecutively for a period of more than a week, wherein handouts pertaining to the ideology of the initiative were distributed amongst the college members. In order to ensure the vide area reach, “Campus Ambassador Programme” was launched on the official Facebook page & more than 35 colleges turned up for the same. Additive to this two more online events namely, “Battle of Ink” & “Capturing Inclusiveness” were floated to catalyze the awareness process. For providing a better insight onto the perception the youth today share, an inter- college group discussion competition was organized.

Further, on sensitizing the masses towards being conscious of the needs of persons with intellectual special abilities, the essence of having a workshop on “How to deal with persons of Intellectual & Developmental special abilities” was felt. Thus, a workshop in association with “Muskaan- The NGO” was organized in the college campus to illuminate the vibrant minds with insights onto the aforesaid.
Venturing into the phase to allow the spirit of “Inclusive India” penetrate into the target audience at a larger scale, one day youth festival “Meraki- Where Inclusion is the Conclusion” was organized in the esteemed presence of Shri Krishan Pal Gurjar Ji - Hon’ble Mos, Social Justice & Empowerment, Dr. Kamlesh Kumar Pandey- Chairman National Trust, Shri. Mukesh Jain – JS & CEO National Trust, Shri Anil Aneja- OSD Equal Opportunity Cell & Nodal Officer PwD, University of Delhi. The walls of the institution stood high on encountering the massive participation of students across various colleges of DELHI NCR. The serenity of the day was amplified with the soulful performance by ANHAD-The Band.

Perhaps, the idea to acquaint, cognize & sensitize the masses onto the needs of persons with Intellectual & Developmental special abilities in having “Inclusive India” marked its success through the selfless efforts involved in the aforesaid.
The event that left an indelible imprint on the minds of people. The one which cannot be forgotten because of the esteem value it holds. That left us all wishing that why we haven’t had this vision before!

Dyal Singh College (E) and National Trust inextricably took the initiative for the upliftment and equality for the people with disabilities.

The event occurred on 1st September, 2017 was diligently organized. There was a soul to it. A soul that was vibrant, contagious and exuberant.

At the entrance of the auditorium of Dyal Singh College (E), the lamp lighting by the guest of honor, Shri Mukesh Jain (Joint Secretary & CEO, The National Trust, Ministry of Social Justice & Empowerment).

The minute one set foot inside the auditorium, one could feel the vibrancy. Outside as well as inside the auditorium, students dressed in their formal best, set the aura for the glorious ceremony. The tone of decorations was alluring and eye pleasing!

Inauguration ceremony was then commenced by Satyam Sharma and Megha Wadhwa, who displayed their tremendously excellent skills by hosting the entire event. Along with various members of the team who managed and coordinated the whole event.

Followed by a song performance by EOC students. Indeed a fabulous performance!

Then we had the astounding welcoming speech by Dr. Poonam Gupta, Associate professor & project coordinator - Meraki, and also stating the need why the people with disabilities should be treated equally. Further presenting honorary to our chief guest.

Dr. Pawan Kumar Sharma, honorable principal, Dyal Singh College (E), gave an enlightening speech thus, inspiring everyone present to be aware of the current scenario and how we can contribute our bit by displaying equality these people deserve.

After the inspiration packed speech, Satyam Sharma gave a presentation on functions, ideas and aspirations of National Trust to help the people with disabilities and how Dyal Singh College (E) along with the prestigious faculty members and team members will join hands with National Trust for the noble cause!

Honorable Shri Mukesh Jain then gave an enlightening session about National Trust and Inclusive India Initiative. He not only showed us the true path towards criticism free world but also answered various questions about the project and general topics of the audience.

Team Rishabh left all the audience mesmerized by their outstanding musical performance and gave a tribute to the people with disabilities.

The colorful event ended with the vote of thanks by Dr. Archana Anand, Associate Professor & Co-coordinator project Meraki.

The integrity and inclusions of each and every person who marked their presence and the valuable contributions of Mr. Amit Kumar- Project Convener, Faculty members across various departments of the college, Umeed-A Drop of Hope, Mrs. Amanda Brown- Active Supporter Inclusive India-Empowered India and the students from diverse colleges is a step forward towards the betterment of the people as whole.
There is no inordinate disability in society, than the inability to see a person as more! The push for inclusion in today's era is the exigency of the hour! This need led to the collaboration of National Trust and Dyal Singh Evening College for taking Inclusive India Initiative one step ahead by instigating Project Meraki. Perhaps, "Inclusion" is said to be an imperative habit, one must practice.
Awareness Campaign

Team Meraki, on being conscious of turning the instinct of the masses towards the need of sensitivity essential in dealing with persons with intellectual & developmental special abilities, undertook making people aware & known about the ideology of “Inclusive India: Empowered India” initiative as its primary element of the project.

To achieve the same following formed the part of this step:

1. Awareness Hotspots:

In order to facilitate and promote the Inclusive India Initiative and Project Meraki, an On Campus Awareness drive had marked its commencement on 18th November, 2017. The step involved setting up of the benches on the college campus by the project members, distributing handouts amongst the attendees pertaining to the ideology of “Project Meraki” & “Inclusive India : Empowered India”. The team members deployed acquainted the masses towards the spirit of inclusiveness. The kind acknowledgement towards making this move successful than 1700 e-commitment forms were filled by bypeople across various age groups, institutions etc.
2. Group Discussion Competition:

Project “Meraki” - Awareness Campaign, Workshop & Youth Festival, commemorated the inception of its endeavor to infuse sensitivity amongst the masses vide inter-college Group Discussion Competition on the theme of "Inclusive India: Empowered India" on September 14, 2017 in the esteemed presence of Hon’ble Chief Guest Shri Navnit Kumar, Program Officer, National Trust- Ministry of Social Justice & Empowerment, Government of India.

The competition witnessed participation of about 80+ students from 12+ colleges within Delhi University.

Hon’ble Chief Guest aroused the need of sensitivity towards people suffering from Intellectual & Developmental special abilities through his prudence of inclusiveness. Further to abridge various initiatives being taken by government for the upliftment: Gyan Prabha Scheme, Vikas Scheme, Sambhav Scheme, to name a few, a brief description on the same was delivered by him.

The day's serenity got amplified with rhetoric & coherent command of Youth Ideology & Perception portrayed by students across Delhi NCR.

There were around 50 participants from various colleges across Delhi. All the participants were divided in a group of 7 members and total 8 rounds of GD were held from which two members from each round were selected and the final round displayed the winners.

The following topics were given on the spot by our Jury - Shri Navnit Kumar and Dr. Archana Anand.

1. Importance of sports in life of specially abled.
2. Role of individual towards a specially abled child in our locality.
3. One of our college mate is specially abled, what would be your role.
4. Role of media for upliftment of divyangjan.
5. What should be the role of an individual in creating awareness towards this issue?
6. Role of community and government in spreading such awareness.
The topics were centered upon the theme: Inclusive India. A bunch of ebullient ideology and distinctive points of view were portrayed by all the participants which led to a perspicacious discussion.

The winners of the event were rewarded with cash prizes, the following were the achievers:

First Prize - Mohammed Sohail Raj

Second prize - Aman

Third Prize - Animesh Sorawat and Lunika Nassa,

The event was successful in reckoning the walls of the college with echoes of participant’s thought-share on topics covering need of sports, role of community, youth, media and government in the life of person’s with Intellectual & Developmental special abilities towards their upliftment.

The event unfurled the onset of Inclusiveness amongst the event attendees with felicitation of the winners & trophy from National Trust for avid participation in its endeavor “Freedom from Bias- August 13, 2017”.

3. Campus Ambassador Programme:
Campus Ambassador Program was floated on 10th September’17 for sensitizing the masses about the noble cause with huge participation among the college youth of NCR region. The programme is ongoing with 90+ campus ambassadors for Project Meraki from 38 colleges of NCR. With the kind support of social media partners we were able to get a mass reach of 4.8k views.

To grant a better insight in people regarding the aforesaid campaign, on campus awareness drive prevails since 15th September’17.

To foster the Inclusive India Initiative, Team Meraki introduced the concept of campus ambassadors due to the dire need to spread awareness and be aware in this context of upliftment and equality for the people with disabilities.

We thus invited people from different institutions to be a part of the project - Awareness Campaign and Youth Festival and pledge to enlighten the lives of people who deserve all that they have been abstained from.

Role of Campus Ambassador:
1. Official ambassador and representative of Project Meraki in your college.
2. Promote Project Meraki - by organizing Awareness campaigns, workshops in your college.
3. Maintain relevant database and submit daily reports.
4. Coordinate the execution of activities in your college.

The event is not only a huge a success but also catered the need for which it was executed and is still attracting masses to join hands and be a part of this extravagant initiative.

It is not only bringing several people together to stand as one diligently for a noble cause that have pitied people with disabilities in past and neglected in present but are ready to change many lives in the future.

Catalyzing the kind accomplishment of the project’s objectives, the project floated it’s first online event - ‘The battle of Ink’, a creative writing competition on the theme of ‘The spirit of Inclusive India’ on 8th September’17 inviting write-ups, poems, encounters, 4-liners, dialogues from all over DU. 80+ entries over 15 colleges of Delhi University were acknowledged in the said event. With the kind support of social media partners we were able to get a mass reach of 1.9K views.

1. Battle of Ink:

Think to inspire, write to aspire!
In order to make an attempt to facilitate the realization of equal opportunities, protection of rights and full participation of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities into the fabric of society this event was diligently executed.

The event stimulates participants to step into an arena, consume it and let it drip from their fingertips on the sheets as per their perception! Participants were asked to present their write ups on the theme: "SPIRIT OF INCLUSIVE INDIA"

Rules for the same were as follows-
1. The writing can be in any form i.e. paragraph, poem, encounter or any other.
2. They can be in Hindi or English.
3. There is no word limit.

Each participant's piece of work was examined on three basis:
* Content
* Relativeness to the theme
* Creativity

2. Capturing Inclusiveness
"There's one thing that a video must contain, the humanity of the moment..."

To have a miracle of collaboration with an intention to ignite the human minds with the spirit of "Inclusive India; Empowered India", "Capturing Inclusiveness", a short video contest was floated on 28th September, 2017. A picture can speak thousand words, but a video can speak millions of words. So, the young vibrant minds were granted with a platform to show their support for the cause through a video clipping. The theme for the competition was “Inclusive India- Empowered India”. Participants were required to have a clipping of not more than 90 seconds with suitable caption to the same.

The event was successful with overwhelming response of the masses.
3. Workshop

All of us have a basic desire to be “included.” This desire, given to us by our Creator, has been embedded in our psyches, but it is all too elusive and its process vaporizes before our very eyes.

In the statement's absolute realization “project “MERAKI” organized an orientation cum Fresher’s for the Equal Opportunity Cell students on 26th September '17.

The orientation held was followed by a workshop in association with 'Muskaan- the NGO' on 'How to deal with people of special abilities'. The workshop was graced by the presence of Dr. Shanti Auluck, Co-Founder and President, Muskaan NGO. The workshop was successful in sensitizing more than 120 students.
An annual fest is a time when the entire team comprising of faculty members, staff members and students come together and contribute to their best to this great endeavor to bring out the extra ordinary talent in participants from all over the city. Conceding the sagacious words of peerless numero uno, Team Meraki, Dyal Singh Evening College in association with National Trust, Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, Government of India, marked triumphant of conducting a grandeur Mega fest on 13th October’17. Conquering the path less travelled, University of Delhi, for the first time, co-associated with the Government of India to put forward the initiative of "Inclusive India: Empowered India" amongst the innocent minds of today's youth. The fest was attended by more than 500 students from various universities in Delhi and NCR, who participated in 8 different events and competitions for prizes worth 2 lakhs to be won.

Beating all the odds and striving to create utility for true worshipers of subject matter, Shri Krishna Pal Gurjar, State minister, Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, waved the flag of commencement and illuminated the youth souls through his aura of sanctity. The Guest of honor for the fest were Shri Mukesh Jain, CEO and JS, National Trust.

The event started with Dr. Poonam Gupta, Professor, Project Coordinator, welcoming the esteemed guests followed by Ganesh Vandana by the students of Rishab, Music society, Dyal Singh Evening College to give a perfect start to the evening. Lakshay Singh Bhandari, Student Coordinator, Team Meraki addressed the gathering to give a brief review of the journey of Project Meraki, then after.

Other highlights of the fest were Soulful Stage play by the Equal Opportunity Cell, Dyal Singh Evening College and star performance by Anhad-The Band, to facilitate the concluding ceremony which was another feather in Meraki’s cap.

The enthusiasm, competence and management showcased by every member of Team Meraki left a cold wave run through its beholder's spin. The buoyant entrants left no stone unturned in contributing their every bit in amplifying the horizon of the masses. The prudence of judges, the guiding force of team, becomes worth mentioning. Serving in thutcomee spirit of yardstick to evaluate one's wit and persuading the entrants to work from dusk to dawn in serving justice to the talent infused by god, their efforts are undoubtedly invincible.

people, inculcating a sense of inclusiveness amongst themselves, became the part of the event. The quantity and quality of participation was the highlight of the event.
4. The Talking Poetry - Poetry Slam

“Hearts can be melted, if you have the power of words.” therefore “POETRY” being the best measure of every soul; each was made a part of it. Students from various colleges apart from Delhi university participated successfully delivered the message of Inclusiveness was in the competition. Also the audience of not less than 500 students enjoyed the show.

Many poets had performed their poetry on Inclusive India, and the message of inclusiveness was delivered from the poems to the masses.

It was through a poetry slam (narrating poetry using appropriate gestures) artists were asked to present and convey their views regarding Inclusive India.
Those who believe in their brush and the power of the change their colors might bring into the lives of the people, became a part of this event.

The objective of the event was not only to examine the creative skills of the participants, but was also to fill the lives of the people with bold and bright colors and instill inclusion amongst them.

An audience of 450 people witnessed the affluence of the event. And 25 participants turned up to experience the voyage of strokes.

This was the very first time any Institute or Organization has ever conducted this event, in India. The team tried to design the event in something very attractive that can bring change and colors into the lives of people through Wheel Chair Rim Cover Painting.
6. Blind Race

The game was introduced as a filler. Though it was a fun game but included an important message to be delivered to the students. All the students were made to play the game with a view to give a better realization of the said fact. The students were blind folded, with a view to make them realize the difficulty faced by our blind DIVYANGJANS throughout. More than 50 students participated in the game. It could be seen how difficult was it to walk being blind folded, which ultimately sensitized the young minds towards the fact of difficulty faced by blind people.

7. Sensory Game

Sensory play has an important role in development. When you talk about the senses, most kids over a certain age can rattle them off without problem: sight, smell, hearing, touch, and taste. Any and all of these can be incorporated into sensory play. The game focused on the fact that you might lack in any of the basic five senses' but, the sixth sense will pave all the individuals including the audience were a part of this activity. With an audience of 400 people and participation of 56 individuals, the event was a complete sell-out. The event left an indelible imprint on the minds and souls of the people. It altered the mindset of individuals in a better way.
8. Sack Race

A competitive game in which participants place both of their legs in a sack and hop from a starting point to a finishing end. The first person to reach the spot wins the race. The major objective of including this activity in the line of events was to enlighten a sense of realization amongst the masses that a certain disability does not conclude that a person won't be able to live his life the way other's live.

With an abled participation of 53 people and an audience of 500 individuals, the event was a huge success and enjoyed by all. Not only the participants, but also the audience realized the urge to try and find a way to maximize the incorporation of every individual living in the society.
Key note by Chief Guest

Meraki- Where Inclusion is the conclusion, one day youth festival was honoured to witness "Shri Krishan Pal Gurjar, Hon'ble MoS Social Justice & Empowerment, Government of India - as the chief guest for the day. Taking a step forward towards the success of the project, the fellow audience was honoured and illuminated with his kind presence and words of wisdom.

He cognized the youth about "All those who are born have the right to live - equally and respectfully."

His speech enabled the spirit of inclusiveness and exposure to vivid approach.

He evoked the youth to become more sensitive and stand with respect for persons with intellectual and developmental special abilities.

His speech included the need of "An accessible barrier free environment being the First step towards fulfilling the right of people with special abilities and participate with them in all areas of community life.

He expressed his felicity towards the entire fraternity of Dyal Singh Evening College as they took up this project and further encouraged them to become the face of change in the people's mentality and approach towards our specially abled friends."
Achievements

1. Project Partners –

PARTICIPATION IN FREEDOM FROM BIAS

13TH August, 2017
For creating awareness about Inclusive India, on the occasion of Independence Day, The National Trust organized and executed Inclusive Outdoor Activities with a theme 'Freedom from Bias' on 13th August, 2017 from 7:00 a.m. till 10:00 a.m. at Nehru Park, Chanakyapuri.

Activities like Yoga Camp, cultural activities, walk, run, etc., were held. Indeed this was a great opportunity for the college students to get sensitized towards children with intellectual and developmental disabilities and also for the school to show their commitment to a great social cause and a prominent National Campaign of Government of India.

The event commenced with Ganesh Vandana followed by lamp lighting by the Hon’ble guests, Shri K. K. Sharma, IPS, DG-BSF and addressed by Ms. Meenakshi Lekhi, Member of Parliament, New Delhi, and Shri. Krishna Pal Gurjar, Hon’ble MoS, Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment and Hon’ble Minister, Shri Thaawarchand Gehlot, Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment.

The event marked its success through the able participation of 2500 people. The program shared an inclusive walk by the Dignitaries, BSF officials and various others, among whom Dyal Singh college(E) held a noble contribution of more than 100 students, who undertook a silent march to educate the masses about the college's project "Awareness campaign, workshop and youth festival on Inclusive India: Empowered India".

The drive left an indelible imprint on the masses to understand & network the need & ideology of Inclusive India initiative.
Participation of more than 150 students across University of Delhi, led by Team “Meraki”
